Principles:

To foster the spirit of nationalism; to bolster up the foundations of the State; to work for the dissemination of learning and morality; to exalt the national spirit.

Main Activities:

At the time of its organization, the Society was in close touch with military circles and with the Ministry of Justice. It published its magazine, FOUNDATION OF THE STATE SOCIETY. From about 1924 on, with HIRANUMA, Kiichiro as advisor, TAKEUCHI, Kakuji drew into the Society prominent national figures and men connected with the Army, Navy, and Ministry of Justice.

On 10 March 1925, the organization moved its offices to KOJIMACHI-Ku, HIRAKAWA-Cho, 6-5 and began publication of THE FOUNDATION OF THE STATE SOCIETY MAGAZINE, which campaigned against Bolshevism and for the enhancement of national prestige.

From about March 1925, the Foundation of the State Society held lecture meetings at various places and was active in the establishment of branches.

Around October 1926, the fifteen thousandth copy of its periodical, FOUNDATION OF THE STATE SOCIETY MAGAZINE was published. The membership increased with great rapidity.

By about April, 1928, branches had been established throughout the country. Speakers included Army and Navy officers; HARA, Kido; OGAWA, Heikichi; SUZUKI, Hisaburo, and other prominent men. Activities were chiefly directed to combating Bolshevism and exalting the national prestige.

At 1700 hours on 16 July 1931, a regular officers meeting was held at KOJIMACHI-KU, HIRAKAWA-Cho, 6-26. Twenty-three persons were present, including War Minister MINAMI, President of the Supreme Court MAKINO, and others. After dinner HONDA, Kumataro, spoke on foreign affairs. The meeting adjourned at 2100 hours.

Principles:

To strive for the happiness and guidance of the people of ASIA, following the basic principles of justice and humanity patriotically and in the spirit of the Japanese Empire.

Platform:

1. To further the spirit in which the Emperor JIMU founded the Empire; to follow the national policies peculiar to this country, to aid in the development of culture; to promote the national interests and the welfare of the people; to aspire to the leadership of the people of ASIA.

2. To crush the evils in existing political parties which have spread throughout the country; to reform abuses; to achieve the realization of a government on nationalist lines.

3. To plan the control of industrial development and to start new industrialization along nationalist lines; to encourage the expansion of national power abroad.

Main Activities:

After 13 February 1932, fifty-six important cities throughout the country were selected and these were divided into ten groups; three lecturers, and one leader were sent out to hold various meetings for the purpose of denouncing existing political parties and advocating the SHOWA Restoration. Fair results were obtained as reflected in the successful meetings in various places.

Around the first part of April of the same year, it began to follow the trend of the times as a result of a conference on the common struggle held by supporting groups among patriotic persons in all JAPAN and a conference of the leading figures in the Society for Action (KOCHISHA). There was a split in the internal organization of this group, and in order to further the progress of the movement, OKAWA, Shumei was made its leader, and TSUKUI, Tatsuo; KARINO, Satoshi and other rising young men were made directors. As a pioneer in the group SHIMIZU, Yukinosuke, former president of the Greater Action Society (DAIKOSHU), was obtained.

The two papers "Rising Citizens", of the Japan Cooperative organ and "NIPPON", of the Society for Action (KOCHISHA) organ, were combined as the organ for the Society of the Emperor JIMU and published under the revised title "NIPPON".

On 15 June of that year, the organization's leader, OKAWA, Shumei was arrested while he was enroute to KOKORO Ken.

At 1930 hours, 8 August of that year, the leaders, KARINO, Satoshi; MATSUNOBE, Shigeji; and KANEUCHI, Yoshisuke left TOKYO Station for MANCHURIA stating that they were going on an inspection tour.
